Music Video Featuring Former Birmingham Chief of Police Annetta Nunn Educates Public about Domestic Violence and the YWCA

Birmingham, AL—The YWCA Central Alabama is pleased to announce the premier of the video entitled The Price of Love, funded by The Verizon Foundation on Thursday, September 13th at 4:00 p.m. at the YWCA Central Alabama, located at 309 23rd Street North.

The message from the song and the information provided on the video emphasize recognizing an unhealthy relationship, the dangers of taking the law into your own hands, and the importance of seeking help early through the YWCA, or a local domestic violence program.

The video featuring YWCA staff member and former Birmingham Chief of Police Annetta Nunn, contains the YWCA version of the popular hit song “Bust your Window” by Jazmine Sullivan. Designed to make comprehensive domestic violence information available to youth, the video was produced by the renowned arranger and producer Dr. Henry Panion, and directed by B Mason.

A verse from the YWCA version of “Bust Your Windows”

You ignored all the warning signs,
Thinking it was true love all the time,
He wasn't worth the trouble I'm sure you agree,
While you're locked up he's out playing family,
Might lose your job and get kicked out of school,
For doing something you thought was cool,
Costing you money that you can’t afford,
All you can say is help me Lord.

What may be seen as a simple act of revenge could ruin the rest of your life. Don’t ignore the warning signs, get help. Love shouldn’t hurt!
